Good morning,

I wanted you to personally inform you of some exciting initiatives that I announced today as part of my 2020 county budget.

While our work continues to get phosphorus and sediment out of our waters, long term behaviors that manifested over many decades created the current challenges. The cultural awareness and change that's underway will take some time to have a tangible impact but there's progress to report. The first phase of Suck the Muck is complete, extracting 75,000 pounds of phosphorus from one of the key waterways feeding the Yahara Lakes (Dorn Creek). The next chapter of our work is just now getting underway in Token Creek where phosphorus soaked sludge is seven feet deep in some spots. Next year our work heads to Six Mile Creek between Waunakee and Westport. We need to keep working through the list of waters where the data tells us we have a long established phosphorus problem. The systemic change we've embarked upon fundamentally alters one of the key sources of the green, smelly algae we see in summer. The 2020 budget has $2.5 million for the next chapters of "Suck the Muck." We need to keep going with a multi-faceted approach, making progress on many fronts to unwind the impacts of old practices.

Our lakes are such an incredible resource. It's important this generation gets some enjoyment out of them while our heavy lift continues at the bigger phosphorus and algae reduction goals. That's why Mayor Rhodes-Conway and I recently announced a five year Clean Beach Corridor project. Systems the county put in place in recent years at Lake Mendota and Goodland County Parks successfully keep an area of lake water clean even at periods while algae blooms peak outside the system's in water barrier. In partnership with the Mayor, we will install safe swimming areas in the coming years at Warner, Tenney, Esther, James Madison and Vilas beaches in Madison. The county will build the systems, the city will maintain the new and improved beaches, and together we'll create more opportunities for safe, free family summer fun. This is an opportunity to not only improve quality of life but also ties in nicely with our equity work, ensuring all have the opportunity to get out and enjoy time in the sand and water.

I'm advancing a couple of other initiatives in my parks, conservation and water quality budget I'd like to call attention to here:

- I'm including $4 million for the Dane County Conservation Fund so we can continue to pursue opportunities for land preservation with clear quality of life, conservation, and recreational benefits. In addition I'm creating the new Dane County Flood Risk Reduction Fund with $3 million in 2020 to ensure the county can vie for public ownership of lands facing a similar situation to what we saw with the Acker Farm next to Pheasant Branch this summer.
- Our residents love their trails. That's why I'm including $300,000 to complete construction of phase one of the North Mendota Bike Trail. This section will run from Woodland Drive to Governor Nelson State Park as part of a partnership. The county's total investment into the first phase of this project is $1.3 million with what's included in the budget.
- The budget has a new $50,000 bicycle crossing safety program to put up additional signage countywide install more safe crossing systems with warning lights.
- I'm adding $250,000 for the next section of work planned to resurface and improve the Capital City Trail.
- $600,000 to construct a new dog park at Anderson Farm County Park in the Town of Oregon.

In addition, last year I announced a multi-year program to create accessible shoreline fishing at county parks. This project set out to make sure everyone had the opportunity to enjoy an evening by the water, creating a number of fishing piers that are fully ADA compliant. The first work as part of this is happening at Salmo Pond, Babcock and Lussier County Parks. I'm doubling funds to this effort next year ($200,000 in capital budget) so we can continue our push to increase access to all the incredible outdoor resources our county offers. The budget includes $300,000 for the restoration of Badger Mill Creek in the City of Verona. This work will include habitat restoration in the area of the Ice Age Trail.

Over the past 10 years Dane County has doubled the amount of parks acreage and facilities. Our parks see over 2 million visitors each year and are an incredible success story. The budget adds a new Assistant Parks Director position to help oversee our growing network of 16 recreational county parks, 16 wildlife areas, and 14 natural resource areas.

To see the complete list of major highlights from the total $33.6 million operating and capital budget for our conservation, water and parks, please see the attached file.
